

Food safety for manufacturing

Level 2 award

Overview

The objective of this qualification is to ensure that persons who are or will be employed in a food business, are provided with the knowledge and skills necessary to produce safe food.

Learners gaining this qualification will know that food safety is the responsibility of everyone involved in the storage, preparation, cooking service and handling of food. Learners will understand the importance of maintaining good practice in the production of safe food.

As well as those directly involved in the handling, production or processing of food or drink items, the qualification may also be suitable for those whose work requires them to enter the workplace e.g. equipment maintenance engineers and delivery personnel. It is valuable as a free-standing qualification or as an addition for people following other training programmes.

Holders of qualifications based on this specification will have a knowledge and understanding of: the importance of food hygiene, associated food hazards, good hygiene practice and controls based upon an awareness of food safety management systems.

How long will it take me to achieve this qualification?

This qualification is usually achieved by taking a one-day classroom-based course with a minimum contact time of 6 hours. This course is normally run in the workplace for small groups of learners.

How is the qualification assessed?

This qualification is assessed by an end of course multiple-choice examination. Learners must answer a minimum of 12 correct answers from 20 multiple choice questions (60%) to pass this qualification. If learners answer 16 (80%) or more questions correctly, they achieve a Distinction.
